THAT IS SCHEME OF REPUBLICANS, CHARGES MOORE

Gov. Cox's Personal Agent Says He Will Furnish Data About That $15,000,000 Fund When Senate Probers Reconvene Next Tuesday.

ATLANTA GAVE $25,000 TO REPUBLICAN FUND

According to Moore. Chairman Hays Says Moore Is Raising Smoke Screen—Many Political Leaders Summoned to Testify at Next Meeting of Probers.

Chicago, September 2.—Democratic witnesses today were unable to present to the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures the data on which Governor James M. Cox based his charges of a $15,000,000 republican campaign fund, because of the adjournment of the committee until Tuesday.

At the request of Senators Reed and Pomeroy, the democratic members, Chairman Kenyon tonight issued a list of subpoenaed witnesses, chief of whom is Edmund H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, Governor Cox's personal representative. Mr. Moore was here today for the announced purpose of presenting to the committee all the data in Governor Cox's hands regarding campaign expenditures, but he was not called during the brief session.

Several of the subpoenas issued were withheld from publication at the request of Senators Reed and Pomeroy, the latter of whom is returning to Chicago today from Columbus, where he conferred with Governor Cox and Mr. Moore.

G. O. P. Leaders Called.

Among those made public were six republican leaders, including Harry M. Blair, of Marion, Ohio, assistant to Fred W. Upham, republican national treasurer. The others are Dudley S. Blossom, Cleveland; Garrett Kinney, Chicago; Walter S. Dickey, Kansas City, Mo.; John J. Bryson, Brazil, Ind., and H. G. Garrett, of Kentucky. They are chairmen of the republican wage and means committees in their respective states charged with appointing the republican budget within their territories.

The six republicans were called at the request of Senator Reed, who announced he wanted to find out how Treasurer Upham's fund collecting machinery was functioning in representative states.

Decision of the committee to request today to permit members to keep week-end speaking engagements was unexpected. Mr. Moore had appeared to take the stand, and had told newspaper men he expected to present documents in support of Governor Cox's charges that the republican campaign fund was being funneled into the republican campaign chest.

The committee heard Senator Miles Polindexter, of Washington, and Herman Heucke, treasurer of the National Young Men's Republican League, and then adjourned.

Moore Says He Will Prove.

Mr. Moore told newspapermen he would attempt to prove that the republican leaders had publicly announced last January they planned to raise a $15,000,000 campaign fund and had boasted of it.

He said if the committee follows out the leads he can give them. Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, will be plenty of company.

Moore said Georgia's quota for the republican campaign was $25,000, and that only $3,000 was collected. Moore said he can prove that Atlanta's quota alone was $25,000, and that it was all collected before June 14, and that the man who collected it quit because Harding was nominated.

He said Blair, a "professional money-raiser," has had charge of raising the republican funds, and that "form 101," which is in Governor Cox's possession, shows that there was no $15,000 limit, as asserted by Will Hays, republican national chairman.

Governor's Call for the Support of Real Democracy Meeting With Approval on Every Hand.

OPPOSITION GROWS FRANTIC AS DORSEY WAVE SWEEPS ON

Delayed Two Hours by Enthusiastic Admirers, Who Crowd to His Automobile to Pledge Their Support.

BY PAUL WARWICK.
Constitution Staff Correspondent.
Millen, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—The confident fervor of his supporters and the obvious multiplicity of converts to his championship of true democracy continue to feature the tour of Governor Hugh M. Dorsey through southern Georgia. These facts were brilliantly evidenced again Thursday in the receptions tendered him by big and approvingly demonstrative audiences at Millen, in Jenkins county, and Swainsboro, in Emanuel.

His morning address at Millen was heard by a large crowd, whose enthusiasm, if possible, surpassed any thus far evinced, but which was not outdone by those who greeted him as his choice for the next United States senator when he spoke to a packed auditorium in Swainsboro in the afternoon. Dorsey, the fact that they had been forced to wait for more than two hours, his Swainsboro audience was so large as to put standing room at a premium.

William Warren, 77 years of age, a leader in the section made a vigorous introductory speech at Swainsboro, telling his hearers that during his entire participation in Georgia politics he had never voted anything but the kind of democratic ticket that stood for all that was good and wholesome in government, and that his intense eagerness for the success of Governor Dorsey was but one evidence of his decision that he could not change at this late date.

Judge Arch B. Lovett, of Sullivan, who presides over the new Georgia circuit court, presented to the governor to the Millen audience and said: "The people of Georgia are now confronted by issues such as they have never before faced in the history of the nation, and in their handling we must be careful of the state of the Union. We must stand before you unafraid and unflinching, and as a man whose private character no official record has ever been whispered against."

Dorsey's Official Record.

The speaker referred to and informed the declaration of M. Deal, of Statesboro, who said that he could endorse Governor Dorsey for the senatorship with the same seriousness and sincerity as he would endorse a guardian for his only son, at the approach of the supreme crisis.

With regard to the special taxes levied on the state during his administration, Governor Dorsey said that his only regret was that he had not been able to turn $200,000 into the coffers of the state instead of $150,000. In funds due the state he collected $1,000,000, he answered the criticism of those who said that he had paid the exorbitant salaries to the investigators by pointing out the fact that he had paid only $100,000 for the same services, when governors before him had paid $3-1/2 per cent, although the same services were not comparable with now.

Having shown the unconstitutionality of the bill to exempt from taxation the bequests of the Steiner estate, the governor said: "Senator Smith says that he would have approved that bill. Of course he would. There is no argument there. The republican would do anything for forty votes."

Tremendous applause fairly shook the building as the speaker declared that Tom Watson was a genius, but that he was an erratic genius, a radical genius, and a man absolutely unsafe and unsound. Another immense outburst of cheering, lasting for more than a minute, greeted his admission of his own mistake in temporarily charging by Hoke Smith, which, however, said the speaker, was not so gentle as let him eat salt out of the hand of Henry Cabot Lodge and the rest of the republican leadership.

He said that the republican party was a "money-raiser," and that "form 101," which is in Governor Cox's possession, shows that there was no $15,000 limit, as asserted by Will Hays, republican national chairman.

DORSEY IS CENTER OF ATTACKS MADE IN WATSON SPEECH

Great Throng Which Greeted Thomson Man Lessened Rapidly in Numbers and Enthusiasm—Few Could Hear Speaker.

AMERICAN LEGION BITTERLY ATTACKED

Watson Also Assails the Democratic Administration and President Wilson in Auditorium Address.

Thomas E. Watson was greeted last night in the Auditorium-Armory by the largest audience that has been at a political meeting in Atlanta in years. The Auditorium was packed long before the time for Mr. Watson's appearance on the stage. The doors were closed and hundreds of people packed the foyer and the outdoor entrances out to the street, where many stood in a driving rain hoping that some accident might intervene whereby they might be afforded a glimpse of the speaker.

There is no doubt that Watson drew a large part of the crowd that jammed the entrances to the building, many having never had an opportunity to see and hear Mr. Watson before. While the audience was undoubtedly the largest to be seen at the Auditorium, probably in its history, there have been far more enthusiastic audiences gathered there. While there were hosts of Tom Watson men in the audience, they having assembled the day from all parts of north Georgia, especially from Watson strongholds, it was noticeable that never more than one-third of the crowd participated in the cheering for the speaker.

Another noticeable feature of the meeting was the most of the cheering did not emanate from those in the audience who occupied the front seats and were the only persons present who could hear what Mr. Watson was saying. Some one on the stage would start a cheer and then it would be taken up by many in the rear of the audience who had not had any opportunity to hear what Mr. Watson had said.

A large number in the galleries and in the rear of the audience began to leave shortly after the speaker started, simply because there was no possibility of hearing what he had to say and their curiosity had been satisfied after they had had an opportunity of seeing him. This disturbed the speaker for a time, but the audience was as orderly as any audience of its size and the difficulty of hearing what was going on could be.

There were no marked interruptions of the speaker, although there were cheers for Hugh Dorsey and Woodrow Wilson when the Thompson was mentioned. When Mr. Watson referred to the Palmer campaign in Georgia and the connection of the editor of The Constitution with it, some one in the audience shouted out, "Hurrah for Clark and Palmer!" and there was no disposition on the Watson part of the audience to take notice of the interruption and howl down the speaker.

The truth is that Mr. Watson did not cast the expectation of that part of his audience who expected him to inaugurate one of his characteristic assaults on all of his opponents. The greater part of his attack was devoted to the American Legion, which he said could not prevent him from taking his part of the private soldier. He said that the officers had abused the privates in France in a way that they never would have dared to do had the fighting been on American soil.

Welcomes Woman Vote.

Referring to the possibility of woman voting in the coming election, Mr. Watson declared that he welcomed the opportunity of their exercise of the franchise. He declared that they would come in oxcarts, two-mule wagons and "flivvers" from the remote rural sections to cast their vote with him against the possibility of their boys being drafted out of the country again for foreign service.

Seemingly to realize that his chief opponent in the campaign was Governor Dorsey, Mr. Watson devoted a large part of his remarks directed against his opponent to the governor. He said that he (Watson) had been charged with never having done anything constructive, yet he considered Hugh Dorsey as a part of his constructive work, though not one that he was now proud of. To this there were responses of "Hurrah for Dorsey!" which were drowned out.

In addition to these three principal speakers, the following members of the American Legion will deliver short talks:

Assistant Secretary of Labor Post Wires Legion Head That "Soviet Ambassador" Is in Custody of Hardwick.

STATEMENT CONFIRMS RUMORS HEARD HERE

Interest Rampant in Big Legion Mass Meet Tonight at the Auditorium. Prominent Speakers to Appear.

Intense interest in the big American Legion mass meeting, which will be held tonight in connection with the legion's anti-Watson-Hardwick campaign, was given tremendous impetus Thursday, when legion officials disclosed the fact that Ludwig C. K. Martens, so-called soviet ambassador to the United States, is now at liberty on parole. In the personal custody of Thomas W. Hardwick, former senator from Georgia, and now candidate for governor.

This information was given out by State Commander A. L. Henson, who Thursday received a telegram from Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor of the United States, confirming reports that had been received here with reference to Martens.

Commander Henson's telegram to Assistant Secretary Post is as follows:

"Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, Washington, D. C.: American Legion informed Ludwig C. K. Martens, soviet ambassador, at liberty under parole in custody of Thomas W. Hardwick, former senator from Georgia, and now candidate for governor.

The reply of Assistant Secretary Post to the above communication was as follows:

"A. L. Henson, American Legion Headquarters, 1613 Healey Building, Atlanta, Ga.: Your information is correct.

"LOUIS F. POST."

Martens claimed to be the diplomatic representative of the Russian soviet government in this country. As the United States did not recognize the soviet government, Martens claimed to be the diplomatic representative of the Russian soviet government in this country. As the United States did not recognize the soviet government, Martens claimed to be the diplomatic representative of the Russian soviet government in this country.

Condemned by Probers.

A committee of the republican United States senate took a hand in the matter and gave Martens and a number of other foreign revolutionaries associated with him a committee unanimously decided that these alien enemies of the United States should be deported. Former Senator Hardwick was one of the committee members. For this service Martens was to have received a fee of $30,000, paid from the treasury of the Russian soviet government. The committee also decided to throw the United States government and establish a soviet government in its stead.

Martens case is now pending in the federal court at New York. Hardwick is still his attorney of record, but he will be barred tonight by speakers addressing a mass meeting at the Auditorium under the auspices of the anti-Watson-Hardwick campaign committee of the Georgia department of the American Legion, it was announced yesterday by A. L. Henson, state commander of the legion, who will preside.

The meeting will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock, and it is expected that the vast Auditorium will be filled to the rafters. Martens is advertised as a part of the campaign against the candidates of two men who fought the United States government at home, while members of the American Legion battled with the boche on European battle fields.

The principal speakers of the evening will be Walter A. Harris, of Atlanta, and Robert Troutman, of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, and Dr. Colto Lyness, of Marietta. In addition to these three principal speakers, the following members of the American Legion will deliver short talks:

324 CONTRACTORS TO BE PROSECUTED BY GOVERNMENT

Proceedings Will Include Both Criminal and Civil Action, and Will Involve Millions of Dollars.

GRAFT DURING THE WAR BASIS OF PROSECUTION

Not Only Purchase of War Supplies, But Construction Camps and Cantonments Will Be Investigated.

GOV. ROBERTS EXPLAINS FIRST CERTIFICATION

In Informing Secretary Colby of Original Action of Legislature, the Governor Simply Certified to Transcript of Journals of House and Senate.

Washington, September 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Prosecution of 324 contractors, the beginning of a move by the government to clean up its war contract controversies, has been ordered by the department of justice. The proceedings will include both criminal and civil action and involve "millions of dollars," department officials said today.

Practically all of the cases embraced by the prosecution order were turned over by the war department, but there were indications similar cases would be received from other government departments. The shipping board is understood to be planning to request criminal prosecution in half a dozen cases in addition to those already in the hands of the attorney general.

Large Sum Involved.

The contracts on which action will be pressed were said to involve amounts "ranging from a few thousand to a few millions each." They include agreements for the furnishing of supplies of nearly every commodity which the government purchased for war purposes, as well as construction of camps, cantonments and warehouses and other facilities for training the army.

Preparatory to instituting legal proceedings in most cases, the government has started a rechecking of such data and figures as it has planning later to pursue the investigation into the records of the firms and individuals whose contracts are questioned. This work will require several months and possibly of early settlement of most of the suits appear remote.

Officials expressed the belief that although the war department had failed to reach an agreement, many of the controversies would be settled out of court. The war department abolished its fraud and graft investigations some months ago and its facilities for making necessary inquiries in most of the cases were limited.

Some "Honest Mistakes."

With respect to a score or more of the contract settlements in dispute, there was the belief that "honest mistakes" had been made by the contractor or subcontractor and that an investigation of records would produce grounds on which adjustment of the matters could be easily made. It was said in other cases, however, "plain cases of fraud" had been proven so clearly that no course was open to the government except direct action looking to indictment of the law violators.

Robert T. Scott, assistant to the attorney general, said it would be the policy of the government not to deal leniently with the fraud cases. He explained, however, that contractors against whom civil proceedings only would be instituted would be given every opportunity to straighten out controversies before the matter was thrown into litigation. The contracts represent practically every section of the country and court action will be sought in local jurisdictions.

Plight of the Submarine Told by Telephone Buoy, Tossing on the Waves

New York, September 2.—A telephone buoy, tossing on the waves in the path of the steamship General Goethals, revealed the plight of the crew of the submarine S-5, submerged for more than thirty-five hours off the Delaware capes, according to information received here tonight. The bell on the buoy was rung and then stood by to render immediately lowered from the General Goethals. The boat reached the buoy, cut in on the telephone apparatus on it, and then from the depths of the sea came this message:

"The submarine S-5 has been submerged for thirty-five hours. Air is running short. Machinery damaged. Send help."

The General Goethals immediately sent out radio messages telling of the plight of the submarine and then stood by to render whatever aid was possible, keeping in communication with the submerged vessel by means of the telephone on the buoy.

An amateur wireless operator, sitting at his instrument at Farmington, Conn., hundreds of miles from the scene of the trouble, picked up the message from the air and made it public.

New Haven, Conn., September 2.—A wireless message from the United States steamship General Goethals picked up at Farmington, Conn., tonight says the United States submarine S-5 has been submerged thirty-five hours and asks that destroyers be sent to her rescue.

The submarine's last position was reported in latitude 38.34 north and longitude 74.00 west, which is virtually due east of the Delaware capes.

The radio was received by David L. Moore, who has a wireless outfit at his home in Farmington. It was sent to him by a wireless operator on board U. S. S. General Goethals at Sea, September 2.—Send destroyers with gear to relieve crew in submerged submarine S-5. Been in this condition thirty-five hours. Bring material for cutting through hull."

statement from officers that nothing was known about the submarine until the 25th. Officers said, however, that a submarine could remain submerged for a much longer period than thirty-five hours without danger to the crew, providing its mechanism was in working order.

Crew and Officers Still Alive. Philadelphia, September 2.—Air is now being pumped into the submarine.

rine S-5 by two steamers, which are standing by the submerged vessel fifty-five miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. The crew of twenty-four men and six officers are still alive, according to wireless advices just received at the Philadelphia navy yard. A torpedo boat is on the way to assist the rescue.

The United States destroyer Overtown equipped with apparatus to meet any emergency, sailed from the navy yard here tonight to the rescue of the submarine. All the speed was made down the Delaware river and officials at the navy yard expect the Overtown will reach the submerged vessel at daybreak.

Hold Secured on Submarine. Washington, September 2.—The United States submarine S-5 was being kept barely at the surface of the Atlantic ocean fifty-five miles east of Cape Hatteras tonight by a precarious hold secured on her stern by the General Goethals, an army transport, while a dozen vessels of the navy are racing from various points to her rescue.

With her crew of four officers and twenty-six men she has been submerged for thirty-six hours, but through a hole cut in her stern by the Goethals crew, enough air is being pumped to keep them alive until navy equipment now afloat in the fastest vessels available can get there to complete her rescue.

Naval commanders at both New York and Philadelphia, Secretary Daniels said, have been ordered to detail available vessels and equipment for the rescue work. The department had received nothing more tonight than was contained in the wireless message already made public, he said.

How the S-5 became disabled and how the General Goethals learned of her plight had not been learned late tonight by the navy department.

Captain B. F. Hutchinson, assistant chief of operations, said the battleship Ohio from the southern drill ground was under way for the spot as were two destroyers from the Norfolk base, a destroyer with naval constructors and special equipment from Philadelphia and a fourth destroyer and the torpedo ship Bridgeport from New York.

The rescue vessels are under orders to get the men out first, Captain Hutchinson said, by raising and cutting into the submarine.

Position Almost Vertical. Messages from the General Goethals said that sufficient air had been gotten into the hull to "revive" the crew, and explained that the S-5's position in the water was almost vertical.

Cables from the submarine's stern to the General Goethals are proving sufficient to hold her to the surface, and men were landed who cut the hole through which the air pipes introduced. Ordinarily the air supply in a submarine of her type, Captain Hutchinson said, would suffice to keep her crew for 72 hours, but her peculiar position would indicate that much of the air had been lost.

How the S-5 became disabled and how the General Goethals learned of her plight had not been learned late tonight by the navy department.

believed that she can be held safely until the navy boats, with lifting apparatus and expert workmen, reach her.

The rescue boats are equipped to cut the side of the submarine if necessary. Her peculiar position in the water has probably made it useless to attempt to take any of her men out the occasionally used route of the torpedo tubes.

Relieved by Fresh Air. New York, September 2.—The officers and men of the submerged submarine S-5 have been greatly revived by the pumping of fresh air into the vessel, according to a wireless message received here tonight from the steamship General Goethals.

The message said: "Forty-two and 26 men have been revived considerably by fresh air pumped through small holes in the hull of the submarine. Men from General Goethals cutting on hull. Chance of relieving crew before dawn. Arriving about midnight doubtful."

On Mainland Trip. Boston, September 2.—The submarine S-5 reported in trouble, left the navy yard here on Monday for Baltimore on recruiting service, carrying thirty-five men and two officers. She was recently ordered to withdraw any of the men.

It was with great difficulty that the speaker got his message across to the audience at all, because with all the efforts of the police, great many were cut off from seeing him. Then again, the speaker was told that he was not to be seen in front of the audience and the magnitude of the audience and the magnitude of the speaker's message were heard or not.

Reference to Smith. The speaker referred to Mr. Watson said to Senator Smith was in connection with the claim that he had been elected to the presidency. The speaker declared that he had had more experience than any man in Georgia and that with all of his opportunities, Senator Smith had never been elected to the presidency.

Mr. Watson's bitterest allusion to the present was when he declared that, if elected senator, he would do all in his power to make it a cause for the election of the president to office for a president to go on a junketing trip abroad with "him" and a large number of women.

The arrangements made by the managers of the meeting were calculated for the most dramatic effect. Those on the stage, including the speaker, were hidden from view by the big curtain until the time arrived for Mr. Watson to make his appearance.

This was a great disappointment to the managers of the meeting, as former Senator Hardwick was present and it had been planned that he should make the concluding speech. Someone on the stage shouted that Mr. Hardwick was to speak and he made his way forward and waved his hand for attention. He could only make a speech of a minute and a half, the purpose of which was that the audience should see the sentiment of the people and had heard the doctrine, and all he could do was to plead with his hearers to be firm in the faith. By that time, however, most of his wished-for hearers had been scattered and he was compelled to conclude.

Mr. Watson opened with a reference to the flag that he was waving before him, the only flag, he declared, for which American boys had shed their blood. He added that the object sought by the friends of the tearful boys to serve under other flags than their own.

Attacks the Legion. Then he opened his attack on the American Legion, to which he attributed the greater part of his portion in the historical part of the American government, in which the audience appeared to show little interest. Because he was so ground covered by almost every political speaker.

Senator Reed. "That is too large in my personal opinion," replied Senator Poindeexter.

Senator Kenyon referred to the democratic expense of $2,000,000 in 1916 and the probable doubling of costs since, and then obtained from Senator Poindeexter a promise that he would let the committee know "anything he found out about that $15,000,000."

Reed Quizzes Poindeexter. After much questioning, Senator Reed remarked that after the republican senatorial committee had paid for its own expenses and work that an average of $3,000 of its funds would be available for direct campaign use in each of twenty states, in which the party expected to wage senatorial fights. Senator Poindeexter remarked that the Missouri senator's use of the word "average" covered a wide range, but he would not agree that some states would receive as much as $4,000.

There has been a good deal of sneering here at the idea of its being possible to buy the American electorate, said Senator Poindeexter. "Do you believe that money can be corruptly used in such a fashion as to change the result of a presidential or senatorial election?"

That opens a wide field of speculation, said Senator Poindeexter. "But so far as national campaigns are concerned, the vigilance exercised by both parties would make it very likely that defeat would come to any party which attempted corruption."

Charges made before the senate investigation committee by E. H. Moore, who said that he had reference to raising $25,000 for republican campaign money in Georgia, said that he had been in active charge of the financial campaign for the republican party in Georgia, and that he had been in active charge of the financial campaign for the republican party in Georgia.

Before the republican convention last June, the campaign headquarters at Chicago had some individual pledge cards printed and sent a batch of them to me. The apportionment for the state of Georgia was $25,000, and I sent these cards out and got $20,000 pledged, of which amount approximately $11,000 has been paid up to date.

hibition Officer McDonald, under suspicion of importing illicit whisky into this city. The minister was returning from a several weeks' vacation motor tour. When he passed through Straw Plains, 18 miles out of this city, a deputy sheriff suspected his muggy, dusty car loaded with suitcases and a bulging sack of apples, to contain medicinal liquor. He telephoned Officer McDonald, and when the car entered the city, the prohibition officer arrested Dr. Vale. The latter protested, invited the officer to inspect the contents of his car, and at the same time appealed to the minister. The drinks were then on McDonald, who released the minister and offered abject apologies. Next Sunday he will have a reserved seat in a front pew of the Seco Presbyterian church, when Dr. Vale may accompany him on "The Evil of Automobiles."

DRY LAW VIOLATORS ARE FINED THURSDAY

Six pleas of guilty were entered in federal court Thursday by violators of the federal prohibition and revenue laws, and in some instances comparatively stiff sentences were imposed by Judge Robert T. Ervin. Paul Gilstrap was fined $400; Steve Grady, of Fulton county, pleaded guilty to possessing 25 gallons of whisky, and was fined $10 and costs; a fine of $100 and imprisonment for one month was the penalty imposed on William Wise, and Clinton Davis, another Fulton county man, was fined $50. R. T. Baskin was also fined $50, and Charlie Langford was fined $10.

STRIKE IS CLOSING ALABAMA MINES

Plans Are Being Made to Push General Strike of Coal Men—Unions Back the Miners.

Birmingham, September 2.—J. R. Kennamer, president of the Alabama division, United Mine Workers of America, conferred here today with other union officials on plans for carrying out the general strike in the local fields ordered yesterday by John L. Lewis, national president of the organization. The order for a general strike in this state did not occasion any surprise in industrial circles. Hundreds of miners have already quit their jobs and several of the mines have been shut down for more than a month, partly because of the walkout and partly on account of the shortage of cars. How Trouble Arose. Last May, following the award of the president's coal commission, Alabama operators posted in their mines notices containing an outline of a plan for "industrial shop councils" which were to have general supervision over hours, wages and working conditions. The plan provided for representation of workers on the councils. Union leaders at once announced they would not approve the plan because it did not contain a statement recognizing the union. They also charged the councils would be "packed" with representatives of the operators. On May 12 approximately 2,000 miners walked out. Their ranks were increased gradually and at present about 3,000 are on strike. Twenty thousand men are employed in the Alabama fields. A month ago coal operators started proceedings to get possession of company houses occupied by the strikers. Several thousands of these cases are still in the courts on appeals, the men claiming their wages were held back by the companies when they walked out and refusing to vacate the houses until they are paid off. The coal companies claim the men broke their contracts by quitting work.

Strike Well Supported. Striking miners have received liberal support from their local and national organizations. Operators claim the production has not decreased since the strike and have quoted figures to show it is greater at this time last year. Union claim production is almost a standstill. To date only one clash has occurred as a result of the strike. A miner named Hicks was shot to death at Carbon Hill following a quarrel at a coal company commissary. Statements were issued this afternoon by James Bonnyman, chairman of a committee of coal operators, and also from union headquarters. The operators' statement declared the findings of the president's coal commission were strictly observed in the Alabama coal fields, and that the operators have refused and will continue to refuse to deal directly or indirectly with the United Mine Workers of America. Information from union headquarters was that as soon as the order of President Lewis is transmitted to all coal mines, it will bring out a great majority of the men who have not heeded the strike call of the district organizations.

ANTHRACITE MINERS TAKING "VACATION" Washington, September 2.—Complete tie-up of fifty-two collieries in the ninth district of the Pennsylvania anthracite fields was reported today.

ported today to the department of labor in the first official advice received as to the "vacation" walkout movement in the region. Twenty-eight collieries in the same district were reported working with reduced personnel. In the Panther Creek valley, which comprises the ninth district, twenty collieries were reported idle. In the Shamokin and Mahanoy regions, firemen, pumpmen and engineers have joined the walkout, it was stated. Industry Badly Affected. The anthracite industry was seriously crippled today by the strike of insurgents in the ranks of the United States Mine Workers of America. It is estimated, according to early reports, that 100,000 of the 175,000 anthracite workers failed to report for duty today and that 180 of the 200 collieries in the district, one, seven and nine were in idleness. No disorders were reported and the "vacation" period of the miners set in without any display on the part of rank and file of the industry. The big companies are the hardest hit. The independent concerns report their collieries working, but with a smaller force. Reductions of 50 per cent. in the territory from Carbonade to Schuylkill, the big operators found themselves in a movement strong enough to tie a large percentage of their operations.

FEMALE VETERANS INDORSE FIGHT OF THE LEGION

The Overseas club, composed of Georgia women who served overseas with the American expeditionary force, has written a letter to A. L. Henson, commander of the Georgia department of the American Legion, expressing their approval of the legion's political stand against Tom Coker and Tom Hardwick and offering its services in behalf of the legion's fight. "We hope that members of the legion will understand our motive in writing this letter and know that it is entirely through the love and loyalty of the legion, not only the men in the legion, but the women who remember who made the supreme sacrifice for their country, the white-crossed cities of France."

Americans and Japanese Equally Sons of God, Says Mayor of Kyoto

Kyoto, Japan, September 2.—"The Americans and the Japanese are equally sons of God and therefore, the spirit of justice and love should rule between them," Kenzo Ando, mayor of Kyoto, in the course of an address at a largely attended meeting here today, declared that the American congressional party which arrived here yesterday, added the history of Japan and America and the history of the world to the change of views for the promotion of friendship so as to ensure permanent peace. Representative Dyer, of Missouri, replying for the United States visitors, said America was proud of its progress and that every true American was desirous of peace with Japan.

NEW YORK TROUBLED BY A TRIPLE STRIKE

New York, September 2.—The triple strike of painters, plumbers and moving men was not as widespread today as had been expected. More than half of the 15,000 painters, 8,000 plumbers and 10,000 movers, according to union leaders, are on strike. The painters' demands for $10 a day, an increase of one dollar a day, an eight hour day and a five day week. Approximately 7,500 in the trades quit work, they said. Many employers of plumbers, union leaders said, granted demands for $9 a day, a forty-four hour week and curtailment of overtime labor, consequently few of them who had threatened to strike quit today. Speaking van men announced about 100 independent moving van and storage men had signed contracts with the teamsters' union. The teamsters' union announced that its members would not yield to the strikers' demands, as they had been given to the men in the last year.

PARENT-TEACHER HEAD TO DELIVER SPEECHES

Dr. W. V. O'Shea, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin, has been secured by the board of education for a series of three lectures on various phases of educational work. Dr. O'Shea is president of the national Parent-Teacher association, and is one of the foremost educators of the country. On Tuesday, September 7, at 10 o'clock he will lecture to the public school teachers of the city at Girls' high school auditorium. He will address the teachers of the city at Girls' high school auditorium on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, and Wednesday night the members and presidents of various Parent-Teacher associations in the city will hear him.

SEVERAL BOUND OVER UPON PROHIBITION CHARGES

W. Epps, M. H. Peek and J. Goodrich, who gave their addresses as the Kimball house, Thursday were bound over to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter, following their arrest by Federal prohibition Agents G. M. Hicks, C. A. Kirkland and Jack Gold, who charged that the men purchased a quantity of intoxicants in violation of the prohibition act. Oscar Fambro, Pike county negro, was also held to the grand jury. He was arrested by United States Agent E. E. Dixon and Deputy Sheriff J. D. Kleib, of Spaulding county, following the discovery of a still, 400 gallons of beer and about six gallons of whisky on his premises. H. L. Dewberry, of Fulton county, was bound over under $200 bond for an alleged violation of the Harrison narcotic act.

EFFORT TO LOWER PRICE OF COTTON

Charged to Federal Reserve Board and Justice Department—Ex-Gov. Manning Urges Farmers to Hold Cotton.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—Addressing the sessions of the American Cotton association this afternoon, Dr. John A. Todd, English economist, declared the law of supply and demand must ultimately govern the price of cotton, but at present this law is inoperative because of abnormal conditions in Europe, he said. European countries are unable to buy what they need at the prevailing rates of exchange, the speaker declared, and the situation is further depressed by the shortage of coal, industrial troubles and general instability of governments. He strongly advised developing the better grades of cotton, which India does not produce, harvesting and marketing it better in the future, as some of the remedies to the present situation.

During the sessions a resolution that the Alabama legislature be requested to enact a law imposing a tax of 10 cents per bale on the cotton crop of the state for the benefit of the superior court, which Alabama division, and the sum of $10,000 be pledged toward a fund of $50,000 for the use of the national organization in prosecuting its work. Spirited attacks were launched at the federal reserve bank and the department of justice by W. C. Coker, an Alabama merchant, who declared they were discriminating against the cotton-raiser in the interests of organized labor. "Labor demands shorter hours, more pay and cheaper food," he said, "and the departments at Washington seem determined to see that labor gets it, regardless of what happens to the farmer."

Mr. Coker declared the federal reserve board had gone entirely out of its mind in attempting to deflate the price of cotton, while the price of other commodities stay up. The second outburst of the day came at the close of the afternoon session when Judge John C. Fugh, of Louisiana, bitterly attacked the speculative element in the cotton market and fired a shot at the cotton seed oil men. "The price of cotton seed is less than half of what it was a year ago," he said. "The mill men give various reasons for this, but the thing for you to remember is that the oil crowd has made up its mind to steal your cotton seed."

Judge Fugh was preceded on the program by former Governor Richard L. Manning, of South Carolina, who delivered an impassioned appeal for adherence to the cotton-holding plan of the national association. Support that both were urged in vigorous terms, the speaker declaring that "the prosperity of the south, the future of our country and our whole civilization is tied up with the question of getting justice in the cotton markets."

BAG CONTAINING BIG SUM RETURNED TO ATLANTA MAN

Baltimore, September 2.—The leather bag which its owner, Linday Hopkins, of Atlanta, Ga., said contained $150,000 in negotiable securities, and which disappeared from the train on which he was traveling last night, was restored to its owner today by Albert Wehr, of this city. Mr. Wehr said the bag came into his possession by mistake. He had gone to union station to meet a guest and a porter, he said, threw Mr. Hopkins' bag into his car along with those of his visitor. He did not discover the error until he reached home and was unaware of the contents of the bag.

Stolen Automobile Plunges Deadly Way Through Matinee Crowd

New York, September 2.—One man is dead, another thought fatally injured and four others are in hospitals, severely hurt, as a result of the plunging of an uncontrolled stolen automobile through a matinee crowd on a Sixth avenue sidewalk today. The driver, who was in military uniform, jumped out of the car and fled. The car crashed into a show window after crushing through the crowd.

Capt. Jemison Drops Dead.

Denver, Colo., September 2.—Captain James Jemison, 55, engineer of U. S. A., dropped dead while at Evergreen, a mountain pleasure resort with a party of 30 nurses and officers from Pitkin's army hospital last night. Death was ascribed to natural causes. Jemison's home was in New Orleans.

ANTHRACITE MINERS SIGN UNDER PROTEST

Scranton, Pa., September 2.—Anthracite operators and miners tonight signed a two-year contract embodying the terms of the award made by the anthracite coal commission and approved by President Wilson. The agreement was signed under protest by the representatives of the miners, whose scale committee will meet here tomorrow for the purpose of asking that the wage agreement be reopened and the mine workers given such further increases as was done in the case of the bituminous coal diggers. The scale committee went on record in a statement to the operators that the award of the commission was "far from being satisfactory" and that it was economically unsound, disturbed the differentials, straddled the real issues, would cause confusion and react against harmony and co-operation. The miners were prepared to present new demands at once, but it is understood the operators let it be known they were there to accept the award as approved by President Wilson and that if the workers had anything further to communicate, it would have to go through regular channels. It was said the miners' scale committee might decide tomorrow to communicate directly with President Wilson, requesting him to have the wage agreement reopened. While the negotiations were going on today, it was estimated half of the 170,000 mine workers of all classes in the anthracite regions had quit work as a protest against the award. The United Mine Workers' organization has called no strike, and the suspension, which has been termed a "voluntary uprising" by the coal diggers as a protest against the award. A complication in the present situation is the action of so-called insurgent mine workers in adopting resolutions to strike. This action, it is said, is an outgrowth of the last election for district president of the miners union in the Scranton-Wilkesbarre region. The faction that lost has taken the election into court and has been opposing the policies of the miners' regular organization. Under the award accepted today, contract miners will receive an increase in pay of 17 per cent; men employed by the day, known as company men, 80 per cent and certain other unskilled labor 25 per cent. It was said tonight the miners desire an additional increase of 15 per cent for the contract miners and a further advance of two dollars a day for the company men. Other demands also will be made, it was said, so as to bring conditions and wages in the anthracite field to those obtaining in the bituminous regions.

That bathroom of yours
will make it glow and glisten

If you only knew how easy it is to use Linduro Enamel, not to mention the beautiful, smooth, glistening white finish it gives; there would be competition in the family as to who should be privileged to do the enameling. In thinking of Linduro, put all thought out of your mind of any other enamel you may have used. There is none of that pulling on the brush, none of that difficulty in getting it to give a smooth surface, or clinging to the sharp edges.

The ease with which it goes on and quickly smooths up, will make you think of liquid porcelain. It would be no exaggeration to say you had porcelain lined your bathroom or kitchen, or porcelain coated your bathroom wood work and furniture. It happens that we have an interesting piece of printed matter especially about Linduro Enamel. Better send for it, or go and buy a can and start right in porcelain coating things. GERMANY REJECTS BOLSHEVIKI OFFER

Berlin, September 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, addressing the Reichstag today, declared that Germany would not cooperate with the western powers as a means of breaking the bonds imposed by the treaty of Versailles, but that after mature reflection he had rejected this course. "If we had followed these exhortations," said the foreign minister, "Germany would immediately have become a theater of war. Furthermore, the disastrous consequences which bolshevism might be expected to bring with it would have fallen with double force upon Germany."

TO DECIDE STATUS OF WOMEN TONIGHT

Majority of Subcommittee Members to Meet With Barrett—Flynt Attacks Action of Members.

A majority of members of the subcommittee of the state democratic executive committee having notified Senator Fernor Barrett, of Toconoco, that they would be present at a meeting of that body to be held at the Kimball house at 9 o'clock tonight to decide whether women shall be permitted to vote in the primary next Wednesday and on what terms, if any, they may qualify for the ballot.

COX TO APPOINT "DIRT FARMERS"

FLYNT'S STATEMENT

Further elucidating his position on the whole matter, he said: "Mr. Barrett is not the chairman of the subcommittee. I am the chairman and have acted as chairman at a meeting. He had no authority to call a meeting of the subcommittee. I do not believe a majority of the subcommittee are willing to participate in a course of action which would jeopardize, if not ruin, the result of the primary. I am astonished that Mr. Barrett should assume authority which does not belong to him, and should undertake a course of action which endangers white supremacy in Georgia."

ABANDON POLICY

"If the absurd ruling of Attorney General Denny, which I have not heard a single lawyer endorse, should be carried out to its logical conclusion, we would wind up in a condition of utter political chaos in Georgia."

IF UNREGISTERED CANDIDATE

"If unregistered candidates can vote in the primary, as contended by Colonel Denny, then unregistered males can vote in the primary, and if unregistered males can vote in the primary, then unregistered females can vote in the primary, and if unregistered females can vote in the primary, then unregistered males and females of all races can vote in the general election in November."

IN OTHER WORDS

"If it means anything, means that the primary is to be a nullity and the general election is to be a nullity. The whole of the state governing registration of voters are to be set aside by the law of Attorney General Denny, then we lose every safeguard which we have built around the white ballot box in many years of Anglo-Saxon effort."

WE HAVE OVERVIEWING

"The qualifications for the qualification of voters in Georgia. One of those qualifications is the qualification of sex. It is knocked out by the ratification of the suffrage amendment. But none of the others has been knocked out. One of these is registration. On this hinges the machinery of pure elections. The registration is to be nullified by the ratification of the suffrage amendment prior to the date of any election. It cannot be changed by the democratic state executive committee, or by the subcommittee on rules of that committee."

325 REGISTER IN AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Two hundred and twenty-five women registered in Richmond county today. The total registration to date is 325. The heaviest registration is in the Sixth ward, which is The Hill section. In deference to the request of the women, the tax collector has seen to it that a second registration office in the business district Friday, of which the collector himself will take charge, his deputies to remain in charge of the regular registry office at the courthouse.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON

ward meetings were held in the wards by the members of the league of women voters for the purpose of nominating members and otherwise organizing in the interest of securing the registration of women by Saturday night, to which time the county democratic committee has given the women the right to register in order to be qualified to vote in the Wednesday primary.

CARPENTERS' STRIKE IS SETTLED THURSDAY

Dublin, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Settlement of the carpenters' strike which has been on since last Friday was effected today, and the men are to return to work at once. Some of them will be on the job tomorrow. An agreement was reached this afternoon between the union local and the contractors and property owners who were involved in the strike under which the striking men return to work at their former jobs, while the contractors are given the privilege to hire non-union men when the union cannot supply enough men to keep the job going. This latter point was the cause of the strike.

J. W. LUDWIG, OF AUGUSTA

secretary and treasurer of the State Council Carpenters' union, reached Dublin Tuesday afternoon and informed the local they had acted hastily and without authority in calling the strike. He advised them to admit their error. This was the first strike of any consequence ever staged in Dublin. He expects to work on the new school building, the new Presbyterian church and several dwelling houses for one week.

LABOR DAY PARADE TO BE BEST EVER

Games and Exercises to Be Held at Lakewood Park—Great Rivalry Displayed by Various Locals.

BY W. B. GRAUEL.

"Bigger and better than ever," is the slogan being used by those in charge of the annual Labor day parade to be held in Atlanta next Monday. After a careful survey of the arrangements, Walter C. Caraway, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades and chairman of the general Labor day committee, announced that indications point to the finest turnout in years.

Over sixty locals will be represented in the line of march. The parade proper will start at 10 o'clock at the state capitol. The procession of workers' bands and floats will proceed along Mitchell street to Whitehall to Peachtree street, where they then counter-march up Peachtree to Whitehall to Alabama, down Alabama to Central avenue.

Through special arrangements made by the Labor day committee an excellent program of games and exercises have been arranged to take place at Lakewood park. Southeastern Fair grounds, following the parade and throughout the holiday. Admission will be free to the grounds and the Atlanta Federation of Trades and the general Labor day committee extends a cordial invitation to the general public to attend the program arranged at Lakewood park. Considerable money has been spent to make a huge success of the games and the committee wishes it understood that the exercises are open to all and entirely free.

Large Number of Floats.
A special feature of the parade will be the large number of floats in line. Unusual rivalry is being displayed by the various locals in their efforts to have the nicest turnout, but the struggle for supremacy of floats is even greater. The committee has offered several prizes to make the contest doubly interesting. First prize for the best float in line will be $100, with $50 to be awarded the second best float. One hundred dollars will be given for the local making the best appearance and $50 for the second best. An award of $15 will be given for the best banner and $10 for the second best.

An invitation has been extended by the Atlanta Federation of Trades to the railway brotherhood organizations to join in making the Monday parade the best yet held in Atlanta. Ex-presidents of the trades federation have been asked and announced their acceptance to act as an escort to the federation float. A final meeting of the Labor day committee will be held on Sunday afternoon at the Labor Temple, 112 Trinity avenue. The complete schedule of the parade and the order in which they will march will be announced in the Sunday newspapers.

Five white bands, two colored bands and a drum corps have already been engaged for the march. William Strauss has been selected to act as chief marshal of the parade. A variety of uniforms and dress will be seen along the route. The various units of the parade agreed upon in their own circles. Local No. 618, composing inside electrical workers, will march overalls. C. P. Ball, business representative, announces that 613 will wear denim, navy blue chambray shirt, black cap and black string tie.

Electrical Float.

Local No. 84, International Brotherhood Electrical Workers, A. B. Bailey, business representative, will wear dark trousers, white shirt, black hat and black tie. This outfit has a special committee of fifteen men working on floats that is likely to prove one of the most interesting in line. Special mechanical devices will be used. The float lighting by electrical connection similar to the fashion in which trolley cars are run.

While nothing is being left undone in an effort to make the parade a big success a good portion of the energy of those in charge of the day's festivities is being used to "put over" the games and exercises at Lakewood park. All sorts of attractions will be offered to the kiddies and it is expected that there will be ample amusement for the entire family. Circle swings, old mill, ferris wheel, merry-go-round, the whip, the frolic, ocean wave and all the other features will be open throughout the day.

Commencing at 2:30 p. m. the athletic contests will start. The program includes a 50-yard dash for boys and girls from 12 to 16 years; 100-yard dash for union men only and a similar race open free to all. Bicycle races start at 3:30 p. m. with a 2-mile free-for-all and a 1-mile race open to boys under 15 years. Automobile races commence at 4 p. m. Two events of 10 miles each are scheduled. The finale of the sports program will take place at 5 p. m. and consists of three motorcycle events. The first will be a 5-mile dash and the others of 10 miles distance. Free moving pictures start promptly at 7 o'clock.

The crowning feature of the day will be a grand spectacular and stupendous display of fireworks staged directly opposite the grandstand. All free. This exhibition will be an exact reproduction of the fireworks display held each year on the Fourth of July. The entire program has been arranged and will be conducted by the union officials. From present indications it is very evident that immediately following the parade all roads will lead to Lakewood park.

KEY SARCASTIC OVER CONTRACTS FOR CITY HEATING

The new steam-heating contract for the downtown fire stations has not yet been presented at the city hall by the Georgia Railway and Power company, but it is expected that the contract will be offered for Mayor Key's signature within the next few days.

Mayor Key refused to agree to the new contracts presented by the power company for the heating of the city hall, police headquarters and Carnegie library, basing his refusal on his belief that the proposed rates were extortionate. An approximate 100 per cent increase in rates are the terms of the new contracts.

Mayor Key made no comment Thursday on the claims of the power company that the proposed increase is entirely justified. "While I was in the hospital in Charleston and while Mr. Arkwright was away on his vacation," said the mayor, "restless Arkwright's office boys conceived the idea that the power company was in dire need of finances, prepared to pay the new rates and sent them over to the city hall. The office boy just doubled the old rate and it took that long to get it to the city hall."

Board Inaugurates Malarial Projects In South Georgia

The state board of health of Georgia has inaugurated four large malarial control projects at Albany, Thomasville, Cairo and Savannah. This work, which has been extended to the larger cities by the state board of health, has been under way some time with great success. It is indicated by reports received by the state board of health that malaria has decreased in infected areas from 70 to 95 per cent since the work started, and it is also shown that the work has been done at a remarkably small per capita cost.

The work of the malarial extermination projects has materially increased the man-power of the mills since the health of the people has been so largely bettered, and the industrial plants, railroads and others who are taking approval by the movement undertaken by the state board of health.

According to information given out by the state board of health, communities wishing to be rid of malaria should call upon the state board of health in Atlanta, which, in connection with the State public health service, will make surveys and supervise drainage, etc.

BALEY IS TENDERED DINNER BY FRIENDS

A delightful dinner was tendered Lewis J. Baley, new chief of the department of justice Wednesday night at the Piedmont hotel, by a number of his intimate friends. A special menu had been prepared, and a program of music was enjoyed. Turner Carson presided over the occasion.

Among those attending the dinner were officials of the Atlanta office of the bureau where he has been stationed for several years as superintendent of the southeastern division, army officers from neighboring camps, officials of the United States district court and other personal friends. High compliments were paid Mr. Baley in short talks by his friends.

Hair Curling Troubles Are Over—Read This!

Have you heard about the newest way to keep the hair in curl? If not, by all means cut out these simple directions and try this wonderful method. Procure a new tooth brush and a few ounces of plain liquid alumina from your druggist. Apply enough of the liquid with the brush to moisten the hair from root to tip just before doing it up. You will be quite astonished when you find you have saved wave and curl. They appear altogether natural, instead of having been artificially acquired. Best of all, the wavy hair lasts very much longer than it would otherwise.

Four hair of course, will have more "body" and fluffiness than where the drying, singeing, waving iron is used. It will appear smooth and lively. For coloring the hair, you'll find it pleasant to use, and it will leave no sticky, greasy or streaky trace.—(adv.)

FOUND CARDUI GREAT BENEFIT

South Carolina Lady Suffered Until She Couldn't Stay Up or Go Anywhere—Tells How Cardui Helped Her Get Well.

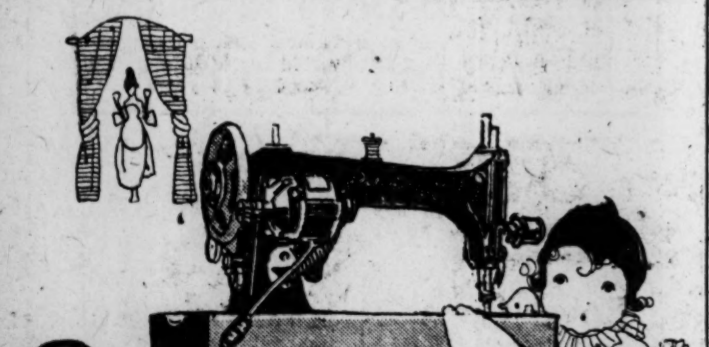

Batesburg, S. C.—In telling how she found relief from troubles that had caused her much suffering, Mrs. E. E. Oswalt, of this place, says: "Each month I would begin to suffer with my back and head. My limbs would ache and I would chill. I wouldn't be able to stay up, no matter what I wanted to do, or where I wanted to go. My people tried giving me different medicines and teas and tonics, yet I didn't get any better.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I began to take it. I noticed it helped me. I kept it up. After a few months I didn't have any trouble. For about six months I used it, before . . .

"I found I was all right, and from that day to this have never had any trouble at this time. I have taken it since, a bottle or two in the winter, especially when I have been exposed, and would take a cold, for I consider it the best thing a woman can take to tone up the system, keep off nervousness and increase the appetite. I certainly know it has been of great benefit to me."

If you are weak, nervous, or suffer from womanly troubles such as Mrs. Oswalt mentions, take Cardui, the Woman's Tonic.

All good druggists sell Cardui.—(adv.)

The DAVIS Always "On the Job"

Whether in the private home, dress-making establishment, clothing factory, or various industries where there's an enormous amount of sewing to be done, the Davis Electric achieves the most satisfactory results.

Strongly built though simple in construction there is less chance for breakdowns or needed repairs. When other machines fail the Davis buzzes away all day long without a break.

If you want the best electric sewing machine going, install the Davis. A five dollar cash payment delivers it, and easy monthly payments may be arranged for the balance.

A demonstration at any time you may call today.

The League of Women Voters' meeting at the chamber of commerce auditorium at 10:30 o'clock to discuss the participation of women in the coming democratic primary.

D. G. S. club masquerade dance.

A dance will be given at Seagallo's by the members of the college set.

Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Locker Keys.

The Young Women's Christian association requests that all members of the association and gymnasium return locker keys at once in order that the lockers may be in perfect order with the opening of the association's gymnasium and health department this fall. The expense of replacing the keys that have not been returned cannot be met by the Y. W. C. A., so if the girls are to co-operate in saving the association the embarrassment of not having sufficient keys for lockers, all keys must be returned at once.

Honoring Miss Shipp.

Miss Mary Clyde Shipp, of Monticello, who is visiting Miss Mary Brittain, was honor guest at a bridge luncheon yesterday, given by Mrs. Harold Coolidge, at her home on Peachtree street.

Summer flowers adorned the reception rooms of the handsome home. The honor guest was presented with a hand-painted basket as a special prize, while a pair of hand-painted candlesticks were given for top score. Luncheon was served at the individual tables, each one being lace-covered, and graced by small French baskets filled with pink and white flowers as the centerpieces.

Miss Shipp was powered in blue satin, embroidered in blue. Miss Mary Frances Coolidge wore blue Georgia crepe. Mrs. Coolidge wore a lace combined with Georgia crepe and draped over cream satin. COMMENCING THIS MORNING AT RICH'S

Six Special September Days of FALL SILK SELLING

By taking advantage of temporary market conditions, we are able to present about $25,000 worth of silks newly bought to sell at about a third to a half under what such qualities have been priced up to this time. In addition we offer silks from stock on which we have made heavy reductions in prices!

SUCH an opportunity for fall silk buying! Understand, please, that this establishes no precedent. It's the first time we've ever made a big silk offering in September. Perhaps it will be the last. For it's not likely that we'll ever again be able to buy silks for the beginning of the fall season at such advantageous prices. The newly-bought silks were acquired at prices under production cost. Then we are balancing up our own stocks—going about it by taking heavy mark-downs. These offerings are on a par in importance with Rich's January, May and November Silk Sales, differing only in his respect—the Sales run for thirty days; this September selling is limited to six days. That's all there is to it—except to tell of the silks. Here they are:

$7.50 to $10 Charmeuse

—Beautiful quality of pure silk charmeuse, 40 inches wide, in navy, brown, taupe, white, black and gray. Has faille back. Heavy weight.

$4.95

Children's Garden Party Planned Next Week at Woman's Club

A children's garden party will be given next Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the Atlanta Woman's club, under the auspices of the home economics department of the Woman's club, this being the third large affair to be staged this summer by this special committee, of which Mrs. Joseph Lawrence, of Birmingham, Ala., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ruse, on East Eighth street.

A fishpond, under the charge of Mrs. Victor Krieger, will be featured, and a punch table will be in charge of Mrs. E. B. Harris. There will be an ice cream booth, with Mrs. M. S. Mentzer as chairman of the committee. Frank Daub is to act as general chairman.

Adamson-Montgomery Wedding Solemnized in Philadelphia

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adamson, of Cedarhurst, Ga., announce the marriage of their daughter, Sarah Victoria, to Mr. Donald E. Montgomery, of Philadelphia, which took place on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Hamilton Court, Philadelphia.

The wedding was an event of broad social interest, and the elegance marked the occasion. Guests were present from Philadelphia, Cedarhurst, and other cities, and the ceremony was followed by a wedding supper.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thos. B. Munroe, of Cedarhurst, and Mrs. J. M. Munroe, of Philadelphia. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Cook, Miss Jean Munroe, and Miss Elizabeth Adamson, of Philadelphia.

The bride wore a gown of an exquisite one of white lace, worn with tulle veil, and her attendants wore airy costumes in pale pink and blue. These colors also gave the motif in decorations.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mr. Charles E. Elder, of Birmingham, Ala., has returned home, after visiting his mother, Mrs. Alice Elder, in West End.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sherman announce the birth of a son, August 24, who has been given the name Frank Louis.

Mr. Eugene Haynes is in Florida.

Mrs. R. P. Brooks, of Forsyth, is convalescing at Battle Creek sanatorium, after an operation.

Miss Caroline Beckham will leave this month to enter Randolph-Macon.

Mr. Walter E. Brown is at Poland Springs, Me.

Miss Mary Menhall leaves this week for Rochester, Minn.

Messrs. George Northen and Frank Hooper, Jr., have returned from a ten days' stay at Kanuga Lake Inn, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wester have moved into an apartment on the Boulevard.

Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman and son, Thomas P. Hinman, Jr., returned yesterday from Asheville, N. C., after a stay of ten days at Grove Park Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Clarke have taken an apartment in the Kenilworth on Ponce de Leon.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Burkes have moved into an apartment on Myrtle street.

OPPOSITION FRANTIC AS DORSEY SWEEPS ON

have proven failures and that the people are not giving enthusiastic approval to his candidacy. The same efforts were made by the identical organs some years ago. These Dorsey made his first campaign for governor. Election day developments, still fresh in the minds of all the voters, showed how overwhelmingly wrong the pre-election estimates of these papers could be.

Records Broken.

Despite these, newspaper articles are now being published seeking to minimize the opposition shown upon Governor Dorsey on his speaking trip, at such places as Cordele, Americus, Cuthbert, Columbus and Statesboro, the Smith people had to admit that the crowds were the largest seen at political rallies in years. In some of these cities the Dorsey meetings broke all records for attendance and enthusiasm.

Last week, the governor visited the second, third, seventh and eleventh congressional districts. This week he visited the first, fourth, tenth, eighth, ninth and fifth districts.

It is plain that he has left a path blazing with Dorsey zeal. His supporters are more earnest than ever, and as they go to the polls, they cast down in spirit, the Dorsey ardor increases.

Opposition Desperate.

The opposition is desperate and is sending out reports which they know are untrue about the governor. One of them is the falsehood that Governor Dorsey fired a white man and put a negro in his place. The truth is that the governor was paying a florist a handsome salary to look after a few flowerbeds on the capital grounds. The florist, Frank Grant, got a job in the city with a private concern and did not give his state half his time.

The governor had the man fired because he was not attending to his work. Then he ordered the porters already employed at the capitol to keep the grass cut. That saves the state from paying for the man who was fired. People seem to think that once a man gets on the state's pay roll, it is a crime to lay him off and save the money.

W. T. Beckham, of Albany, well-known attorney, called at Dorsey's place and said: "The language which the criticism of Senator Harding, whose vision has not yet attained to the largeness of Woodrow Wilson, Governor Cox and I trust of yourself. This large principle, and vision, is keeping with the ambition and love of that great man, the statesman and lover of men, Jesus, the young Nazarene. True are the words of the New England sage, Emerson: 'We oft make God's love too narrow, by limits too narrow of our own.'"

"How true is this of the modern politician, someone has said: 'The politician is the man who has a lot box, the statesman for the coming generation.' The main principle contained in the league of nations is a Christian principle, and therefore the whole Christian church should be for it. It is the Christian church which should be the plant which in perfect bloom will sweeten the world. It is the Christian church which should be the golden chain of love, drawing the whole world toward the feet of God."—Tennys.

"This leads me, in conclusion, to give the fourth reason why I wish and pray your vote for Senator Harding. I believe you will be a humble Christian gentleman. I hope that the statesman will be only a Christian statesman will occupy the highest official position in the league of nations. With best wishes for your success, of which I am confident, I remain, yours truly,"

IS YOUR BABY THE PROPER WEIGHT?

Dr. Holt, the eminent baby specialist, says that baby's weight tells very accurately how it is thriving. He recommends the first year at least, keeping a weight chart. The average baby born at full term weighs 7 1/2 pounds; three months, 12 to 13 pounds; six months, 15 to 16 pounds; and a year, 20 to 22 pounds.

If your baby isn't weighing what it should give it immediate attention. The first place to look for the cause of underweight is the stomach and digestive organs, because, if they do not function properly, baby's body is not properly nourished. Symptoms of poor digestion are usually sleeplessness, fretfulness, loss of appetite, constipation, diarrhoea and sometimes a slight fever.

This condition may be easily corrected with a good laxative, such as "Baby Ease," a perfected preparation by a baby specialist. The castor laxatives have a tendency to irritate and are too harsh for the delicate membranes of baby's stomach. "Baby Ease" is easy-acting, non-irritating, does not produce over-action or leave baby constipated. It is a safe, harmless and efficient laxative and corrective for babies and children. If you see no improvement after a few doses, take baby to a physician. Ask your druggist for "Baby Ease."—(Adv.)

headquarters Thursday and said concerning Dougherty county:

Sold For Dorsey.

"Dougherty county will be found almost solidly in the Dorsey column. As is well known, Dougherty county has always been against Senator Smith, and our people have no use for Watsonism. In addition, we have considerable work for Mr. Dorsey in Lee and other surrounding counties, and the indications are that we will also carry these by substantial majorities. Dougherty, we know, is safe and we feel that Dorsey will get every county that adjoins it."

B. H. Middleton, who lives at Decatur, says that Governor Dorsey is leading in the town, with Mr. Watson second.

N. Hays, of Decatur, and his four sons are for Dorsey.

R. F. Carr, of Banks, states that Senator Smith will get 100 votes in his county. The race there is between Dorsey and Watson.

J. J. Ely, of White Plains, says that Dorsey is the strongest candidate for the senate in his end of the county and thinks the governor will carry the county. Sentiment is changing steadily to Dorsey.

Crisp County.

L. F. Booth, of Cordelia, reports that the Crisp County Dorsey club will have half of the registered voters of the county signed up Saturday night.

C. C. Vaughan, of Kirkwood, says that Dorsey is in the lead in his town and will carry Kirkwood by a good majority.

J. H. Steadlin, of Oglethorpe, says that the contest there is between Dorsey and Watson. Senator Smith is in the lead.

O. E. Pruett, of Alpharetta, states that the race in Milton is between Dorsey and Watson.

J. Holmes Jordan, of Atlanta, recently returned from a visit to Pike county, where Governor Dorsey is in the lead in that county. Senator Smith is a poor third.

Campbell county reported that the Dorsey supporters are working and are confident of carrying the county. It is pretty well understood that Senator Smith will be third man in the state race and that Dorsey is the man to beat Watson.

Rev. Donaidson writes:

Among the many letters received by Governor Dorsey predicting his election was the following from Dr. Donaidson, pastor of the Baptist minister of Kirkwood:

"My Dear Governor and Friend: I write to congratulate you on the brightening prospects of your becoming our next United States senator from Georgia. For years we have had good personal friends, and I want you elected for the following reasons:

"First, your official records in the state as solicitor and governor have been A. No. 1.

"Second, you are the genuine and loyal exponent of the great principles of democracy as held and upheld by our nation, the principles which have made our country free, strong and great.

"Third, you stand for the broader principle involving the democratic brotherhood and fellowship of all the nations of the world, as contained in the league of nations. We have come to the need of a larger word than patriotism, which means love of one's own country. We need a word to express our love for humanity. Cosmopolitan might answer first may coin a word, meaning love for all the world. I like the words of the noble woman who said to Senator Harding, candidate for president: 'Sir, I want to be more than an American citizen, I want to be a citizen of the whole world.' This is to love America not less, but more."

Larger Principle.

"The language which the criticism of Senator Harding, whose vision has not yet attained to the largeness of Woodrow Wilson, Governor Cox and I trust of yourself. This large principle, and vision, is keeping with the ambition and love of that great man, the statesman and lover of men, Jesus, the young Nazarene. ALABAMA WILL VOTE ON SPECIAL ROAD TAX

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—Governor Thomas E. Kilby has issued three proclamations fixing the time for special elections to determine whether or not the state constitution shall be amended to permit each county to levy a special road tax of 50 cents on each $100 of taxable property; whether Jefferson county shall be permitted to lend its credit to the development of the Wadley river, and the state lend credit to develop its only seaport, Mobile. The special elections will be held on the same date as the general election in November.

WASHINGTON SEMINARY SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The Washington Seminary offers excellent advantages to students in music—piano, pipe organ, violin, voice, theory, harmony and musical literature. The music faculty consists of Miss Edna Bartholomew, graduate of the Royal Conservatory, Leipzig, piano and pipe organ; Miss Margaret Bartholomew, graduate of the Royal Conservatory, Leipzig, piano and pipe organ; Miss Clementine MacGregor, graduate of the Metropolitan College of Music, New York, piano, harmony and theory; George F. Lindner, violin; Mrs. Mary Lovelace Hurt, pupil of Oscar Sacher, voice.

The full course of music in the seminary may be substituted for certain studies in the literary department and count as three units towards the literary diploma, thus affording time for a thorough musical education. The music lessons are given during school hours, from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. when the pupils are mentally alert, thus avoiding the tedious afternoon music lesson hour. Rates reasonable.

Fretted instruments—mandolin, guitar, banjo, ukelele, Irish harp—under direction of Miss Mary Butt Griffith and Mrs. Lella Griffith-Boldard.

"Nothing except the perfect assimilation of food into blood. Everybody knows that the red blood of life depends on the digestive tract. If your liver is sluggish, your kidneys sluggish or, worst of all, your intestines are inactive, your red blood supply loses and body failure starts."

Success in Plain Words.

"For this condition scientists have a long name. They call it auto-intoxication. But in plain words, this means that your intestines are clogged with purifying matter and your body is becoming a poison factory."

"We can trace this auto-intoxication from its start and the part of the blood plays in it. The chemical waste in the intestines is almost the same as if you should throw a piece of raw, fresh meat into a hot stove and let it rot. Most of the real digestive and assimilative process takes place in the intestines. When the intestines are inactive, the active healthy intestines, animal vegetable and mineral matter, and ferments, putrefactive germs, and waste and excess and body toxins are not eliminated."

YOU CAN BE THE MAN OR WOMAN YOU WERE INTENDED BY NATURE TO BE BY PURIFYING SYSTEM

These poisons and auto-intoxication begins. Like a dammed mill stream, the poison flow starts backward. The stomach gets sour, greasy and bloated as the poisons are sent back to it. The stomach gives out the danger signals by headachy heartburn, nausea and pains.

Begins With Constipation.

"The digestive system works like a single machine. So the liver is affected and quickly sends out its warnings and makes you bilious, dizzy and dizzy when you stop over. A coated tongue and bad breath appear. The face often flushes, the hands and feet get cold and clammy and spots flash before the eyes. You wake up with a dull, achy feeling and no appetite. Often the stomach becomes so full, you get drowsy in the day time and begin to lose weight and strength. Many times a shortness of breath and a feeling of palpitation around the heart.

"As the poisons multiply, nervous disorders appear. There is even neurasthenia and melancholia. Skin eruptions may follow and show nature's warning.

"Medical science knows there is almost no end to the symptoms auto-intoxication causes. It includes catarrh of the stomach and stomachic blood supply and increases the vital digestive juices.

"Sarsaparilla root, greatest of all blood tonics, and Mandrake, the old remedy noted as a nerve tonic to overcome the sleeplessness of dyspepsia.

When Can Understand.

"All people hear the Nature remedies of which Peppax is composed, they know it does it and have confidence in Peppax because they start this famous treatment."

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LILLIAN THARP, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. "CHASTISED STATESMEN"

"Joe Bailey Joins the Club," is the caption of an editorial that appeared in The New York World a few days ago, reference being to what The World calls "the Chastised Statesmen's club," in which former Senator Bailey's overwhelming defeat by Texas Democrats in the recent gubernatorial primary election qualified him for membership.

The World editorial appeared concurrently with one of similar purport carried by The New York Times, both of which we reproduce elsewhere upon this page, both emphasizing the significance of the Texas primary as proof conclusive of the sentiment of the southern people.

Every one of the Wilson-haters, without a single exception, have been bowled over at the polls and ushered into the odium of the "Chastised Statesmen's club."

And there are three more waiting in the ante-room: Smith, Hardwick, Watson, of Georgia; Vardaman, of Mississippi; Bleasdale, of South Carolina; Hardwick, of Georgia (in his dismal failure to succeed himself in the senate, in 1918); Reed, of Missouri; Shields, of Tennessee; Kirby, of Arkansas; Gore, of Oklahoma, and Smith, of Georgia, in his crushing defeat in the presidential preference primary campaign last April.

They've all gone—one by one—into the limbo of discredited statesmen and with unerring precision.

Is Georgia ready to reverse her position?

Is Georgia ready to be the only southern state to stand against the party and its administration?

TAKE TO THE WOODS!

"Take to the woods," is the advice of Editor McIntosh, of the Albany (Ga.) Herald, when the real, or fancied, troubles of life threaten to crowd you into a gloom-corner. There, he says, one will discover no note of weariness in the call of a bird—no hint of discontent!

He puts this friendly advice into an editorial which is a prose-poem. In the companionable woods—

"There will be no rustiness on the wing of the imperial buzzard, and the noisy jays and woodpeckers will betray no symptoms of brain fatigue. You can sit down on the bank of a stream, with no human habitation in sight and nothing but the realness and harmony of God's out-of-doors about you, and in half an hour of communing with Nature get rid of more of the stress of life than you can shake off in a week in town. Just sit still and let Mother Nature talk to you for a little while. Then, when you get back home, you will be greatly pleased to discover that things are nothing like as drab and rusty as they were when you left them."

He didn't even find the early August woods too rainy for genuine enjoyment; for he saw the morning sun striving for a pathway through the mists; he heard the undimmed birds sing welcome to a little light, and learned something more of the lesson of Content.

Where, under gray, gloomy skies, "life had not grown stale for the little feathered and furred folk who live out of doors," why should it seem stale to "us humans?"

The idea is to get away from the places where the gloom gathers and find that change of scene which may be said to mean change of soul.

And soon the woods will offer more inducements than ever, for those who know the gloom towns, to "take to them," for they are fixing to put on rainbow-colors, and the perfect peace of the sweetest summer of the year is at hand.

A WONDERFUL WOMAN.

In the death of Mrs. William D. Grant, Atlanta, the state and the country lose a wonderful woman.

Her long life is made memorable by countless deeds of kindness and benevolence, and probably no woman ever lived in Georgia possessing a more charming personality.

She has been a social leader ever since her young girlhood, when, as a Troup county belle, she captivated the whole state.

Among the young heroes who went to the front and to whom she presented the Confederate colors as he left home, was the man she afterwards married.

Captain and Mrs. Grant located in Atlanta shortly following the civil war, and for fifty years she has been one of the most beloved women of the city.

For more than thirty years her husband, Captain W. D. Grant, was one of Atlanta's master builders, he having died nearly twenty years ago.

It is difficult to do justice in words to the memory of so wonderful a woman.

She literally radiated sunshine throughout her life, and her chief delight was in bringing cheer and comfort to the hearts and homes of others.

Such a woman will be sadly missed in the community in which she has lived and worked for so many years, and her memory will be kept fresh for many, many years by her countless kind deeds and by the thousands of friends made by a life of unselfish devotion to others.

LAND IMPROVEMENT.

The Savannah News well says of land improvement which is going on in southwest Georgia that it "ought to spread to every county in the state."

The farmers of that section, it says, "are planning extensive eradication of stumps in new land and comparatively fresh fields."

Of this work the Savannah paper has this to say:

"For two or three years demonstrations of the real, permanent good that can be done land, the vast saving in area and possibility of cultivating it by labor-saving machinery have been carried on. This fall the farmers are planning to practice the lessons they have learned. Many fields will have a considerable increase in planting area added to them without increasing the acreage—by removing the stumps and eliminating the loss that surrounds every stump. Many fields will be put into condition which will make possible the use of machinery that will more than offset the shortage of labor."

That has been the purpose of Georgia farmers ever since they have had to "double up" with whatever help there was at hand, to make their crops in spite of the serious labor shortage which will, of course, be greatly relieved by the introduction of farm machinery.

To free the fields of all obstructions, and to make every furrow's length of productive soil count in crop contribution, is work which will carry just that much farther on the road to permanent farm prosperity.

And that's what the farmers of the state are working for.

LITTLE ECONOMIES.

The Spokane Spokesman-Review, in an article on "Watching the Pennies," notes that in the month of July the government spent a million and a half dollars less than in June.

It is pointed out that "this is not a large sum, as government expenditures go," but it is significant, as showing that "little economies are being undertaken."

And it's the "little economies" that count, whether it is in the business of running the government or the home. It's in keeping an eye on the pennies that are the daddies of the dollars!

And that doesn't mean depriving the home or the individual of any necessary thing; for in the flush time we have been having—and that are still with us—there has been money in plenty for all needful things, and money to bank against the rainy day time.

The thrifty people know this, and they improve every money-making opportunity—spending wisely, and never unnecessarily. They know that well-paid work, notwithstanding the higher cost of the necessities of life, makes it possible for them not only to have all they need to keep going, but that by following the thrift plan, there is always a fairly good balance to their credit on the thrift ledger.

It's wonderful what "little economies" will accomplish in a comparatively short period—how soon the pennies get to the dollar-column of the bank book!

And then the dollars multiply themselves, and impart something of that "safety feeling" which makes happier workers everywhere.

One can save without in any sense being miserly; and watching the "little economies" is building for future home-happiness and prosperity.

From the Old-Time Hunter.
"Uncle John," of The Excelsior Springs Standard, replied as follows to an invitation to go fox-hunting:

"I never could train myself to feel like huntin' a fox with an automobile. Of course, if the fox was supposed to stay on a time on an allied highway, I reckon the idea might bear some fruit and furnish joy for the fox to boot. And the boys and gals would chug the trail, and maybe, come home with the fox's tail. But the idea has never entered my head, to hunt a fox with a feather bed of pink pajamas, or diamond studs, or safety razors, or Sunday duds. Of course, if the fox was supposed to stay around on a campus of high-priced hay, an' swap remarks with the gals and boys, whose principal function is makin' a noise—why, I reckon he might get crotch that way—but I wouldn't bet, nor I wouldn't say!"

'Anti-Wilsonism in Texas'
(From The New York Times.)
Mr. Joseph Weldon Bailey, an eminent resident of Washington, D. C., who has been in congress since 1907, wanted the democratic nomination for governor of Texas.
In the jaundiced words of an opposed republican, "Mr. Bailey is a man of high character, and he seems to claim himself, that he has the strength of Samson, the strength of the state's military literary excellence of Shakespeare, the oratorical ability of Demosthenes, and the statesmanship of Lincoln."

He is a good lawyer and orator, but perhaps his chief distinction is his unimpaired universal kicking. He is opposed to pretty nearly everything and everybody, and especially to Mr. Wilson. He tried in vain to get an anti-Wilson delegation from Texas to the San Francisco convention.

In the democratic primary election of July 24 there were, besides Bailey, three democratic candidates, all Wilson men. Mr. Bailey got 152,171 votes. Mr. Patrick M. Neff, the republican, got 100,000 votes, and the fourth 45,733. The majority of the Wilson men was nearly 140,000. Mr. Bailey had 33.7 per cent of the total democratic vote; the Wilsonites 66.2 per cent.
Many republicans are said to have voted for Mr. Bailey. Republican newspapers were enthusiastic for him. Some republican papers on the side of Texas were rash enough to regard the result of the first primary as a defeat for Mr. Wilson.
Since no candidate had a majority,
a second primary was held on August 25. The Wilson democrats united on Mr. Neff, a Waco lawyer, accused by the Baileyites of the stupid crime of being a republican.
Mr. Neff, a Baptist minister, preachers among the innumerable objects of Mr. Bailey's aversion.

The vote has been counted in all but a few unimportant districts, and Mr. Neff in some 73,000 votes ahead. The result was certain, so that the vote was not as large as Mr. Bailey's at the previous primary, and in Mr. Bailey's motley collection of supporters it is impossible to give the respective numerical values of anti-suffragists, anti-prohibitionists, pro-Germans, mistreated "antis" and straight anti-Wilsonians. What is clear is that the Texas democratic opposition to the president is negligible and impotent. Mississippi, South Carolina, Missouri and Oklahoma have been taught Mr. Bailey's folly of putting even his majestic and once toged person against the democratic administration and democratic popular opinion.

Politics in Georgia

How Hoke Smith Treated Senator Oscar Underwood, and Speculated on a Balance of Power, is Brought Out by Editor Jim Williams—Methods of Smith's Organ to Fool the People—Dorsey Ready for Smith Today—Watson's Message to the Editor of The Georgian.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

There are so many things in the career of Senator Hoke Smith that are reprehensible to loyal and fair-minded Georgians, that it is apt to overlook something really important in appraising the senator's public record.

For instance, a subscriber of The Constitution called my attention only yesterday to the fact that the part of the newspaper that tells the story regarding Smith's treatment of Senator Oscar Underwood, when the latter was a candidate before the democratic members of the senate for democratic floor leadership, is a purely untrue story.

In the Greensboro Herald-Journal that reached Atlanta Thursday, the first reference is made to this incident that has appeared in any Georgia newspaper.

In cataloging some of the things that Smith has done that does not set well with "Uncle Jim" Williams, the following reference is made to the Underwood matter—

"The latest act of Mr. Smith which does not agree with our way of thinking was the fact that he sat silent and strange when there was a tie vote in the democratic caucus to decide whether Senator Underwood, of Alabama, or Senator Underwood, of Nebraska, would be the democratic leader. The democratic senators had cast their ballots for and against Senator Underwood."

Now, as a matter of fact, I am not sure that I did not see a reporter or anyone else; neither did I authorize anyone else to make any statement. I do not attach any importance to things of this kind, but don't want any one to be putting words into my mouth.

No doubt you will be glad to publish this denial. I don't want my friends in Georgia to be misinformed as to my stand in the coming campaign.

Yours truly,
W. L. RITCHIE.
Milledgeville, Ga., August 25.

As to this communication, which so pointedly explains itself, I feel that comment is unnecessary.

Either Tom or Hoke Suits Mr. Hearst.

Hearst's Atlanta Georgian is supporting Thomas E. Watson for the United States senate. In the April campaign preceding the Georgia preferential primary, it supported Hoke Smith against Thomas E. Watson and Attorney General Palmer. And in the present campaign, it is supporting Hoke or Tom suiting its purposes, apparently, with the burden of its support upon Hoke.

It is the same thing now, as might be expected. While it is supporting Watson, it is placidly smooth. It is not so placidly smooth when it is directed at Smith, with its fire directed on Dorsey. In other words, the burden of its support—and God knows it is a "burden" for any man who aspires to office in Georgia, among Anglo-Saxon Georgians—is upon Watson, with Smith suiting its purpose accordingly.

And thus in Thursday's Georgian, in keeping with its editorialized news service, appears the following—

"Senator Hoke Smith has not ceased his efforts to obtain a joint resolution with Governor Dorsey at Washington, Wilkes county, Friday morning, where he held a public meeting. He has arranged to speak at 11 o'clock in the county courthouse, and he has refused to meet the senator and divide time with him. He has refused to meet the senator and divide time with him. He has refused to meet the senator and divide time with him."

It is not surprising that Mr. Hoke's strength is greater than Mr. Walker's—we have heretofore given the Georgia reason for this. The comparison in this way—but that the continued division of the county vote of the state is giving to Mr. Hoke an apparent 50 per cent greater strength than his.

The entry of Walter R. Brown in the gubernatorial contest, on the Democratic platform of anti-labor domination, has actually made no change in the situation, though it has changed the platform of the party. It may redound to some slight advantage somewhere for the democratic platform, but it is not likely to do so.

The trouble, and it is the only trouble, continues to be the platform of anti-labor domination. The trouble, and it is the only trouble, continues to be the platform of anti-labor domination. The trouble, and it is the only trouble, continues to be the platform of anti-labor domination.

Georgia Newspapers Fighting For True, Loyal Democracy, And 100 Per Cent Americanism

WHAT DORSEY STANDS FOR. (From The Augusta Chronicle.) We know that Georgians are going to vote for Dorsey with an overwhelming vote because of what he stands for.

And, to our minds, Dorsey stands for an ideal. He stands for what the soul of America stands for, with America as the helm in the great band of nations that will prevent the aggression of brute force, that will stand for peace and plenty, and that will stand for peace and plenty, and that will stand for peace and plenty.

Looking back on what subsequently happened it is plain now that even then, before the famous Smith-Hoke conference, the private conference in the Kimball house, Senator Smith was perfecting schemes to prevent the election of Dorsey.

As he thought sure he would be able to do so—a loyal democrat from getting the vote of Georgia in the San Francisco convention.

He says he is for Cox! It is time to laugh!

This the Method Of Smith's Organ.

The method Senator Smith's Atlanta organ employs to fool the people in its news reports regarding the senatorial race has been referred to in this column two or three times; but it continues along the same path, possibly convinced that it is the only path left that it can possibly travel without a frank confession that the day of hope for its candidate has passed.

I cannot illustrate The Journal's way of doing things politically for Smith better than by republishing a communication from its own columns, buried though it was. It follows—

Editor of The Journal: In your paper of August 28, in reporting the debate between Senator Smith at Gray and Milledgeville, I am reported to have said that I was a supporter of Senator Smith's first time in the coming primary; also that Senator Underwood was a better candidate than either of his opponents.

Now, as a matter of fact, I am not sure that I did not see a reporter or anyone else; neither did I authorize anyone else to make any statement. I do not attach any importance to things of this kind, but don't want any one to be putting words into my mouth.

Bibb County Voters Hear Record of Former Senator Bared by the Popular Candidate—Introduced by General Harris.

Macon, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Before a representative audience of Bibb county voters, which had gathered despite the heavy rain which was falling, a record of the late Senator's life was presented by General Harris.

General Harris declared that the record of the present crisis before the Georgia people was a record of the fact that exactly two years ago tonight the Second Georgia regiment, Macon's own, was preparing to take the train for the port of embarkation to France. He declared that he had seen the single citizen had pledged unwavering support at home for the great cause to which they were going.

HARDING SPEAKS TO CHICAGO CUBS

Senator Put His Political Creed Into Vernacular of Baseball in Addressing Players.

Marion, Ohio, September 2.—During his time between work and play, Senator Harding today made two front porch speeches, held several political conferences on political issues and campaign management and then went out to see a baseball game, which was played in Marion as a special compliment to his enthusiasm as a fan.

The Chicago Cubs, brought here by their owners to give the nominee his first glimpse this season of a major league club, were matched against an improvised Marion team in an exhibition game. The senator, who was seated in the grandstand, watched the game with interest and enthusiasm. He and Mrs. Harding rooted with several thousands of their neighbors for the home team.

One of the nominee's speeches, delivered earlier in the day, was to the Cub team, which marched in a parade to his front porch and presented its compliments, through President Yessak as spokesman.

Team Work Is Urged.

In a reply, phrased in the language of the diamond, Senator Harding declared his hope in the campaign was to develop team work among the American people so that the nation would still fly proudly "the pennant won by the people."

The other address was to a delegation representing various teachers' organizations and was in advocacy of better compensation for the teaching profession.

He declined, however, to accede to a request made by his callers that he endorse the Smith-Towner bill providing for a federal department of education and larger federal participation in school building.

Senator Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, former secretary of state and a leader among the reconcilers of the senate during the treaty fight, was one of those with whom the nominee conferred during the day. The country's foreign policy, and particularly the proposal of Senator Harding for a new association of nations, was the subject of their talk, but the specific considerations of the conference were not revealed.

In a statement tonight Senator Knox declared his conviction that the foreign policy of the Wilson administration would be repeated at the November election and that Senator Harding's stand would commend itself to the voters of the country.

Delegation of Teachers.

The delegation of teachers who called on the nominee were headed by William T. McCoy, of Chicago, and included representatives of the National Educational Association, the American Federation of Teachers and several other organizations of large membership.

The request for an endorsement of the Smith-Towner bill, which the nominee said he had been unable to study, was also made.

"It is rather a curious indication of the trend toward federal control," he continued, "that at this very moment not less than four or five new cabinet officers are being proposed. I am not a student of human intelligence and cannot pretend to say to you what ought to be done in each particular instance."

"I am not a student of the Smith-Towner bill and I could not be so unfair as to pledge you any specific action. But I do pledge you the most sympathetic concern and a determination, if responsibility comes upon me—to call the attention of the congress to the pending crisis in American education and to urge the best thought of the country to its early solution."

William Wrigley, Jr., and A. D. Lasker, chief owners of the Cubs and prominent in the republican national campaign work, accompanied the club to Marion and during the day talked over various subjects of party management with the nominee.

At the ball game the Cub management loaned the locals a battery. Martin and Bailey working in the pitcher's box and Daley behind the bat for the Marionites. Alexander pitched two innings for the Cubs and then was replaced by Jacobson.

Harding to the "Cubs."

In his front porch address to the baseball players, Senator Harding saluted them simply as "Cubs" and plunged directly into his discourse on political issues as analogous to the problems of the diamond.

"I like the tension of a tight game," he said. "It is great to be a voter. It is fine to see him in recognizing the great pay, but I like his partisanship. That is the explanation of baseball popularity. We are all partisans of some team."

"You can't win a ball game with a one-man team. I like a pitcher who puts the ball over and trusts his fielders to play their stations. Maybe it is old-fashioned, but I am for team-play. I am opposing the one-man play for the nation. Too much fanning-out, too much unpreparedness for war cost us many precious lives and endless billions in waste and unpreparedness for peace is costing billions more and holding us in anxiety and uncertainty."

Alleges Wilson "Muffed."

"It is my observation that the national team, now playing for the United States played loosely and muffed disastrously in our domestic affairs and then struck out at Paris. No one can dispute the American team played badly when it got on a foreign field.

"As a spokesman for the republican party, I am urging team-play in government on the home grounds with all the home fans behind us, and team-play when we represent America in the all-the-world series. There are too many men batting above 300 to rely on one hitter."

"And I am advocating something more—play according to the rules. The rules in the supreme American game are in the federal constitution and the umpire is the American people. There were a meeting of league officials where the contending team tried a squeeze play, and expected to score—six to one against the United States. But the American senate was ready with the ball as the plate and we are still flying our pennant which we won at home and held respected throughout the world."

certified to Washington that the action on the ratification resolution was "legally and constitutionally" had. Members of the house who held a conference with the senate on the subject of the words "legally and constitutionally" appeared in a rough draft of the certification prepared by Attorney General Frank M. Thompson, but that when Governor Robert came to these words in preparing the certification which went to Secretary Colby, he eliminated them and supplied "passed and adopted" in manner and form appearing on the journals of the two houses.

The true, full and correct transcript of all entries pertaining to which said resolution No. 1 are attached hereto and made part hereof.

Senate Reverses Action.

The senate yesterday reversed its action of yesterday and voted to spread upon its journal the record of the house in refusing to concur with the senate in ratification of the suffrage amendment.

The vote was 21 to 4. Reversal of action was due to the complaint of house members that the senate had been discourteous in declining to receive its message.

The motion adopted by the senate follows:

"Without undertaking to determine the question as to the validity or invalidity of the action of the house and without undertaking to determine the legal status of senate joint resolution No. 1 (the ratification resolution), I move that that out of courtesy and deference that one house owes to the other, we receive the message from the house and spread the same on the journal, as is customary in these matters."

Both houses voted unanimously today to adjourn sine die Saturday.

REGISTERING WOMEN IN ALABAMA CITIES.

Birmingham, Ala., September 2.—With 2,300 women registered, suffrage leaders today were making a whirlwind campaign to push the figure over the 5,000 mark in Jefferson county before the poll books close.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—The registrar for Montgomery county had to seek larger quarters today for the registration of women voters in order to get sufficient room to work. His office was so crowded he moved into a large court room. The total number registered has passed 700 here and there was still heavy registration during the afternoon.

Tusculum, Ala., September 2.—T. W. Williams, registrar for Colbert county, has refused to register a number of women. He declared the state law says registration shall close today, and that it applies only to male voters.

Mobile, Ala., September 2.—With 1,222 women registered as voters here at 2 o'clock today and the registration books to remain open until 7 o'clock tonight, indications were that 1,500 new voters would be added in Mobile county through the equal suffrage act. The rush of women at the courthouse was so great today that additional force of clerks was employed.

FLAME OF LIFE FLICKERS LOW

Thursday, appeared deeply affected.

"The end is near," she told friends around the gates. "Terry realizes it. Too. He asks us to read the devotional manual to him constantly."

MacSwiney has made his will. He isn't rich, and that means that his wife, Muriel, and his little 3-year-old son, who is at Cork, will be practically dependent upon friends.

The family's advisers, and relatives, while they realize that the lord mayor has already accomplished three-quarters of what he sought to do, in that he heralded throughout the world the cause of Ireland, are nevertheless anxious to save his life if it be possible. But they are not interfering because they realize that arguments are useless, but would merely cause the lord mayor pain and mental anguish.

MacSwiney was reported tonight to have suffered paralysis of the right arm and right leg, due to failure of his circulation. Physicians, in attendance, feared that paralysis of his entire body will gradually set in.

His sister, upon leaving the prison shortly before 8 o'clock tonight, said that for the first time he was unable to speak to her.

No Mercy to Be Shown.

Appeals in behalf of Lord Mayor MacSwiney will not be recognized by the British government, Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, strongly intimated today in an interview with the correspondent of The London Times at Lucerne today. Sir Hamar also indicated the government would insist on the government's adherence to its Irish policy.

"None of the mercy which some seek to invoke for the lord mayor," said the chief secretary, "was shown the eighty policemen who have lost their lives in Ireland."

"The present lawlessness in Ireland," The Times' correspondent quotes Sir Hamar as declaring, "is the work of a small body of men who are striving by carefully planned anarchy to impose secession from the British empire on 80 per cent of the people of Ireland who do not want to secede."

Rumors of Cabinet Split.

Rumors of serious divergence of opinion in high governmental circles over the advisability of releasing Lord Mayor MacSwiney are gaining wide circulation here.

It was reported that King George at the intersection of Queen Mary, threatened to issue a royal proclamation freeing MacSwiney. Premier Lloyd George, according to this information, countered with a threat to hold up the proclamation if it is issued.

Part of the cabinet was reported willing—even anxious—to release MacSwiney, but Lloyd George remained adamant in his determination to hold the lord mayor in spite of all pressure.

English and continental papers are giving more space to the MacSwiney case than to war and political news.

Christensen to Lloyd-George.

Chicago, September 2.—A cablegram to Premier Lloyd-George of England requesting him to order the release of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was sent today by Parley P. Christensen, farmer-labor party candidate for president.

Object to U. S. Appeal.

Boston, September 2.—The loyal coalition of which Demarest Lloyd is president today sent to Secretary of State Colby a telegraphic protest against intervention in the case of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who is on a hunger strike in an English jail.

"The starvation from which he is suffering is self-inflicted. The case is not in any sense a proper concern of the government of the United States," the protest said.

MRS. ROBERT K. HARLEY DIES AT HOT SPRINGS

Sparta, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. Robert Kirkland Harley, of Beaufort, S. C., was buried in the family square in the Sparta cemetery here Thursday morning.

Mrs. Harley had gone from Beaufort for a visit to her brother, Marion B. Pierce, in New York, and from there to Hot Springs, Ark., where she had a slight tonsil operation, and died Sunday, August 20.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Harley was Miss Sarah Clifton Pierce, daughter of Mr. George Pierce, Jr., and Mrs. Hattie Harley Pierce, of Sparta, being a member of the distinguished Pierce and Harley families.

She was 50 years of age, leaving a large number of relatives.

New York for Cox.

Savannah, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—W. H. Wright, superintendent of the Savannah division of the Central of Georgia railroad, returning today from a fortnight's vacation spent in New York, declared that in the past several days the Cox sentiment in that state has been steadily gaining and the chances appear for the carrying of New York state by the democratic candidate.

Without undertaking to determine the question as to the validity or invalidity of the action of the house and without undertaking to determine the legal status of senate joint resolution No. 1 (the ratification resolution), I move that that out of courtesy and deference that one house owes to the other, we receive the message from the house and spread the same on the journal, as is customary in these matters."

REGISTERING WOMEN IN ALABAMA CITIES.

Birmingham, Ala., September 2.—With 2,300 women registered, suffrage leaders today were making a whirlwind campaign to push the figure over the 5,000 mark in Jefferson county before the poll books close.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—The registrar for Montgomery county had to seek larger quarters today for the registration of women voters in order to get sufficient room to work. His office was so crowded he moved into a large court room. The total number registered has passed 700 here and there was still heavy registration during the afternoon.

Tusculum, Ala., September 2.—T. W. Williams, registrar for Colbert county, has refused to register a number of women. He declared the state law says registration shall close today, and that it applies only to male voters.

Mobile, Ala., September 2.—With 1,222 women registered as voters here at 2 o'clock today and the registration books to remain open until 7 o'clock tonight, indications were that 1,500 new voters would be added in Mobile county through the equal suffrage act. The rush of women at the courthouse was so great today that additional force of clerks was employed.

FLAME OF LIFE FLICKERS LOW

Thursday, appeared deeply affected.

"The end is near," she told friends around the gates. "Terry realizes it. Too. He asks us to read the devotional manual to him constantly."

MacSwiney has made his will. He isn't rich, and that means that his wife, Muriel, and his little 3-year-old son, who is at Cork, will be practically dependent upon friends.

The family's advisers, and relatives, while they realize that the lord mayor has already accomplished three-quarters of what he sought to do, in that he heralded throughout the world the cause of Ireland, are nevertheless anxious to save his life if it be possible. But they are not interfering because they realize that arguments are useless, but would merely cause the lord mayor pain and mental anguish.

MacSwiney was reported tonight to have suffered paralysis of the right arm and right leg, due to failure of his circulation. Physicians, in attendance, feared that paralysis of his entire body will gradually set in.

His sister, upon leaving the prison shortly before 8 o'clock tonight, said that for the first time he was unable to speak to her.

No Mercy to Be Shown.

Appeals in behalf of Lord Mayor MacSwiney will not be recognized by the British government, Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, strongly intimated today in an interview with the correspondent of The London Times at Lucerne today. Sir Hamar also indicated the government would insist on the government's adherence to its Irish policy.

"None of the mercy which some seek to invoke for the lord mayor," said the chief secretary, "was shown the eighty policemen who have lost their lives in Ireland."

"The present lawlessness in Ireland," The Times' correspondent quotes Sir Hamar as declaring, "is the work of a small body of men who are striving by carefully planned anarchy to impose secession from the British empire on 80 per cent of the people of Ireland who do not want to secede."

Rumors of Cabinet Split.

Rumors of serious divergence of opinion in high governmental circles over the advisability of releasing Lord Mayor MacSwiney are gaining wide circulation here.

It was reported that King George at the intersection of Queen Mary, threatened to issue a royal proclamation freeing MacSwiney. Premier Lloyd George, according to this information, countered with a threat to hold up the proclamation if it is issued.

Part of the cabinet was reported willing—even anxious—to release MacSwiney, but Lloyd George remained adamant in his determination to hold the lord mayor in spite of all pressure.

English and continental papers are giving more space to the MacSwiney case than to war and political news.

Christensen to Lloyd-George.

Chicago, September 2.—A cablegram to Premier Lloyd-George of England requesting him to order the release of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was sent today by Parley P. Christensen, farmer-labor party candidate for president.

Object to U. S. Appeal.

Boston, September 2.—The loyal coalition of which Demarest Lloyd is president today sent to Secretary of State Colby a telegraphic protest against intervention in the case of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who is on a hunger strike in an English jail.

"The starvation from which he is suffering is self-inflicted. The case is not in any sense a proper concern of the government of the United States," the protest said.

MRS. ROBERT K. HARLEY DIES AT HOT SPRINGS

Sparta, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. Robert Kirkland Harley, of Beaufort, S. C., was buried in the family square in the Sparta cemetery here Thursday morning.

Mrs. Harley had gone from Beaufort for a visit to her brother, Marion B. Pierce, in New York, and from there to Hot Springs, Ark., where she had a slight tonsil operation, and died Sunday, August 20.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Harley was Miss Sarah Clifton Pierce, daughter of Mr. George Pierce, Jr., and Mrs. Hattie Harley Pierce, of Sparta, being a member of the distinguished Pierce and Harley families.

She was 50 years of age, leaving a large number of relatives.

New York for Cox.

Savannah, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—W. H. Wright, superintendent of the Savannah division of the Central of Georgia railroad, returning today from a fortnight's vacation spent in New York, declared that in the past several days the Cox sentiment in that state has been steadily gaining and the chances appear for the carrying of New York state by the democratic candidate.

Without undertaking to determine the question as to the validity or invalidity of the action of the house and without undertaking to determine the legal status of senate joint resolution No. 1 (the ratification resolution), I move that that out of courtesy and deference that one house owes to the other, we receive the message from the house and spread the same on the journal, as is customary in these matters."

Both houses voted unanimously today to adjourn sine die Saturday.

WOMEN'S MEETING TO DISCUSS VOTE IS "OPEN FORUM"

Regarding the meeting of women, called for 10:30 o'clock this morning at the chamber of commerce, Mrs. Haynes McFadden, acting chairman, states very emphatically that the meeting is being held for the purpose of "discussing how the women shall vote and not who they shall vote for."

"It will be an open forum," she explains, "and every woman in Atlanta is invited to come and enter into the discussion of ways and means."

Judge E. D. Thomas, chairman of the Fulton county democratic committee, states that he has anticipated the possibility of a decision of the state committee favorable to the women, and "can take care of them on election day if that is the case by permitting them to qualify by affidavit."

Since the Fulton county democratic committee has taken the stand that the voting of the women is a state matter and not a question to be determined locally, the women are anxious to move carefully in order not to embarrass local officials. Mrs. McFadden stated that even should they be permitted to register by Lucian Harris, they did not wish to do so if the expenses of such registration would fall upon Mr. Harris due to any future ruling on the part of state democratic officials. Judge Thomas concurred in this view and further declared that his committee is powerless without instructions from the state committee.

It is unofficially learned that the instigation of undignified proceedings has been considered as an open course should other means fail. Such a course of action is now being followed by the women of Chatham county, led by the Savannah committee. There is no definite desire that such a course will not be presented by motion at the meeting this morning. Judge Thomas states that he is unprepared to render an opinion upon this possibility.

On the other hand there is no certainty relative to the decisions to be reached since no program of action has been prepared by those in charge, and the final policy will be determined in open session today.

HOKE SMITH SPEAKS IN TELFAIR COUNTY

McRae, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Hoke Smith spoke in Telfair county courthouse this morning to some 300 people of this and surrounding counties.

The speaker was introduced by Colonel George H. Harris, a local attorney. The speech of the senator was not a lecture, but a personal address of his opponents and only very slight reference was at any time made to the candidacy of Governor Dorsey, the speaker stating that the senatorial race lay between Thomas E. Watson and himself. He said he had found this to be the case in practically every county he had visited.
